As a user I want a function that adds two numbers and returns the result.